

Windows to the Soul

Your First Job Interview

Reflect back on this experience and write down what your thoughts and feelings were.

Eye Contact is a form of nonverbal communication and is thought to have a large influence on social behavior. Coined in the early to mid-1960s, the term developed as a way to often define the act as a meaningful and important sign of confidence, respect, and social communication. Making eye contact is an essential part of creating a positive first impression.

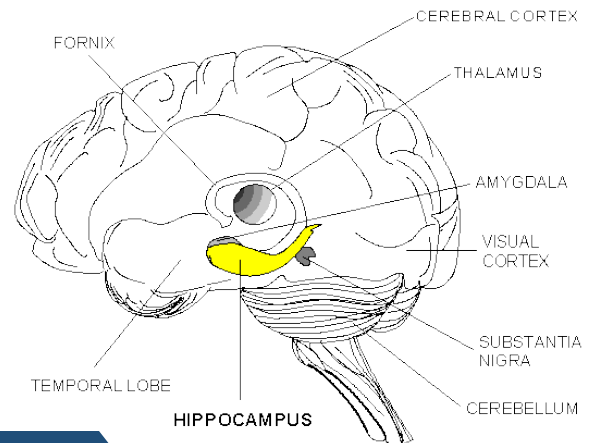

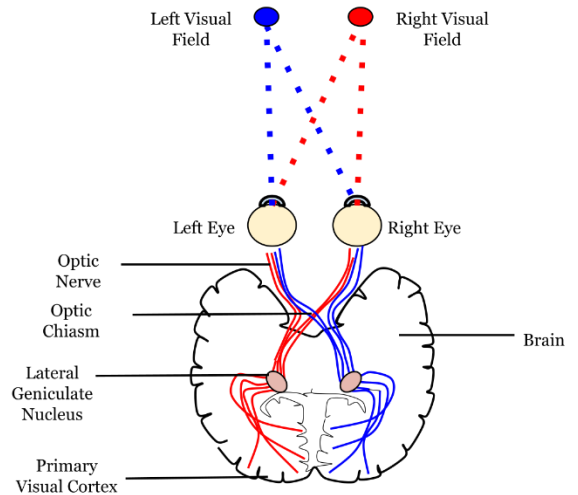

Seeing You in the Best Light

Which of these does an interviewer see when meeting you?

- A. Beliefs
- B. Attitudes
- C. Values
- D. Ethics
- E. Food stain on your shirt

Performance Objectives

- Identify what contributes to the way we see the world
- Compare what we see with what we should be looking for in youth
- Outline what should be learned to complete an accurate picture of a youth

Bias - Stereotypes - Prejudice

Windows to the Soul

PARADIGM: EXAMPLE, PATTERN

Especially: an outstandingly clear or typical example or archetype

Activity: What do You See?

Halloween 2017

Camping '14

On the court 2011

Workin 2004

Dinosaurs '16

Birthday '83

Easter 1997

Fun Day '16

Birthday '96

Asking the Right Questions

First Meeting – The Basics

Favorite Activities – Hobbies - Interests

Best Part About School

If you could go anywhere...

Fun Facts

Looking for a Job

Three Positive Descriptors

Keep Looking for the Whole Picture

Searching for what you can't see