

EVOLUTION/TRANSFORMATION

Participants

Any number of participants.

Time Allotment

5+ Minutes

Activity Level

Low

Materials

Participants with hands & fingers 😊

Method

This is a rock paper scissors game. Rock smashes scissors, scissors cut paper, paper covers rock.

- Everyone starts out as an egg by squatting down low and waddling around.
- Eggs find other eggs and play Rock-Paper-Scissors.
- The winners evolve into chickens and the losers continue to play as an egg.
- Then chickens find other chickens to play Rock-Paper-Scissors with.
- The winner always evolves and the loser remains whatever they were when they entered the Rock-Paper-Scissors game.
- Inevitably, one person will be left at each stage of evolution, this ends the game.

The “Evolutions” and actions associated are:

- Egg: Squat and waddle
- Chicken: Thumbs under armpits and flapping arms like chicken wings
- Eagle: Flapping arms out wide
- Pterodactyl: Arms straight out to the sides swaying like you are soaring through the air
- Nerdy Human: Act nervous, hike up shorts/pants etc.
- Super Cool Human: Strikes a relaxed, confident, cool, pose off to the side of the group.