Dr. Sheree L. Tarver Sylva-Senette is a Licensed Psychologist for the Dallas County Juvenile Department. Presently, Dr. Tarver is spearheading the department-wide implementation of comprehensive Dialectical Behavior Therapy (DBT) within the organizational framework and throughout the programs and facilities. She is certified in Dialectical Behavior Therapy through Palo Alto University- Concept Continuing and Professional Studies. She has experience working in juvenile justice for almost 10 years. Dr. Tarver earned her Psy.D. in Clinical Psychology from the Clinical Psychology program at the College of Psychology at Nova Southeastern University in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. She earned her B.A. in Psychology and M.S. in Clinical Mental Health Counseling from Loyola University New Orleans. Dr. Tarver previously worked as a Licensed Professional Counselor in Southeast Louisiana. She completed an APA-accredited Postdoctoral Fellowship with the Rees-Jones Center for Foster Care Excellence through Children's Health/Children's Medical Center Dallas and she completed an APA-accredited internship with Rutgers University Behavioral Healthcare in Newark, New Jersey. Dr. Tarver has experience working with children, adolescents and families presenting with emotional, behavioral, and interpersonal difficulties, and individuals with long-term mental illness in a variety of settings. Her clinical interests include the treatment and assessment of complex trauma in youth and families, internalizing issues that manifest as problematic and at-risk behaviors, and helping youth and families increase the use of healthy adaptive coping methods. She has a passion for multidisciplinary treatment, trauma-informed care, consultation, training, and advocating for access to services and resources for those most in need.
