Executive Director

Ranch Hands Rescue and Bob's House of Hope

Landon Dickeson is an accomplished, licensed mental health professional with more than a decade of experience in the field. He serves as the Executive Director for Ranch Hands Rescue and Bob's House of Hope. Landon has worked with thousands of trauma survivors, and this vast experience drives his passion to create treatment programs for those having complex PTSD.

After graduating from the University of North Texas with a Master of Science in Clinical Mental Health Counseling, Landon obtained state licensure as a Licensed Professional Counselor. He provides treatment for high-risk youth, suicide loss, sexual assault/abuse trauma, Veteran trauma, and male victims of commercial sexual exploitation (CSE). In addition, he has been trained in crisis intervention, risk of harm assessments, EMDR, Equine and Animal Assisted Counseling, DBT, TBRI, TF-CBT, psychological first aid, and other therapies.

Landon has created several trainings to increase understanding of complex trauma, sex trafficking, and overlooked populations. He has delivered presentations at the JuST Conference, TNOYS Conference, DFPS Conference, Humanimal International Conference, and he has been featured in numerous webinars, local events, and news stories. Landon also helped launch the first state-wide and nationwide billboard campaign (#BoysToo) to educate the public about the sex trafficking of males.

After years of treating sexual abuse and trafficking victims, Landon helped found the first safe house program in the country for male victims of sex trafficking, Bob's House of Hope.
